The queen and her maids will preside at Watermelon day, Tuesday, September 22, at the Southwest Arkansas Fair.

Other arrangements for the fair are rapidly approaching completion. The annual preliminary tour of Southwest Arkansas towns was launched at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning when a good-sized motorcade left Hope for Bodewy, Rosston and Willisville, in Nevada county, to return home by way of Magnolia, Stamps and Lewisville.

The second day's tour, Wednesday, will take the motorcade from Hope through Fulton to Saratoga, Okay and Nashville, and back by way of McCaskill, Blevins, Prescott and Emmet.

Tree Barren For 16 Years Yields Fruit

This Tree First Discovered in Pine Woods by Owner

ARKADELPHIA.—Fruitless for 16 years, an apple tree on the O. B. Helms farm, seven miles west of here, has borne a pack of almost perfect red apples, which, because of the peculiar history of the tree, are attracting a great deal of interest.

Helms said 16 years ago he noticed a small apple tree that had sprung up a volunteer out in the pine woods on his place. It continued to grow and never yielded. He supposed it was a crab apple tree of a kind that did not have fruit. Two years ago he cleared the land, leaving the apple tree.

Last year the tree bore two or three small apples. This year there were many blossoms and the crop, while small, is of a good quality.

The tree, stunted by being a volunteer and in the pine woods, is not over 10 feet high with a spread of only eight feet. But it is hardy and it is believed a horticulturist might use it advantageously in grafting. A specimen brought to Arkadelphia is three inches in diameter, mixed red and green in color, without a flaw.

Texas-to-Chicago Gas Line Finished

Eight Companies Interested in 24-Inch Pipe 900
Miles Long

Completion of 24-inch natural gas pipeline connecting Chicago and the Great Lakes region with the gas fields of the Texas Panhandle was announced today by the Continental Construction Corporation. This huge project, in which Cities Service, the Insull interests, Standard of New Jersey, Texas Corporation, Skelly Oil Company, Southwestern Development Company, Phillips Petroleum and Columbian Carbon Company are jointly interested, will make available 175,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily for industrial, commercial and domestic uses. Final tests are being completed and the line will be in operation September 5.

The line traverses six states—Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois—and crosses 13 important rivers which include the Canadian, the Arkansas, the Missouri, the Des Moines and the Mississippi.

As this line stretches across more than 900 miles, it was found necessary to construct ten main line compressor stations to be used in pumping operations. These have a total of more than 70,000 horsepower and are located at approximately 95 miles apart near the following towns: Fritch, Texas; Gray, Oklahoma; Bloom, Heizer and Gray, Kansas; Beatrice, Nebraska; Hastings, Truro and Harper, Iowa and near Geneseo, Illinois.

The initial station located at Fritch, Texas, is the largest gas driven compressor station of the world consisting of twelve 1250 horsepower units, each of the remaining stations being equipped with five 1250 horsepower units. In connection with the initial station there is a natural gasoline absorption plant with a capacity of 72,000 gallons per day.

A complete telephone system, making communication possible from all points along the line, essential to the operation of such a system, consists of 1287 miles of line using 5,014 miles of wire. In obtaining right-of-way for the line, it was necessary to cross 2593 tracts of land and obtain the signatures of approximately 8,000 people residing in almost every state in the union and several foreign countries.

Draft Advocated To Promote Peace

Bodenhamer Speaker at Annual Convention in Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—Universal service was advocated as the best means to promote peace in an address Monday by O. L. Bodenhamer, past national commander of the American Legion, speaking at the annual convention of Tennessee Legionnaires.

Bodenhamer said that "by universal service we mean simply this: That on and after the declaration of war, every citizen and the property of every citizen shall bear his and its proportionate part of international conflict."

"With a system of universal service in effect and with the resulting prospect of victory over nations would be slow to declare war against us," Bodenhamer said. "We likewise would be slow to declare war against other nations in view of the fact that we would have no group of our people who would be interested in war if it were clearly understood that all men and all property would be subjected to the punishment and burden of war, and that there could be no slackers and no profits resulting from such international conflict."

"If made into law such a principle would cost the United States not one single dollar for maintenance," the speaker said. "If war is never declared, the plan will never be called into action. If war should be declared, then it would serve as an economy measure."

Bodenhamer said that "complete world disarmament, as such," will no more guarantee world peace than will "the absence of weapons stop fights between men when their rights are violated." On the other hand, he said, neither "complete preparedness" nor absolute militarism will prove a sure cure for war.

"There is but one condition, in my opinion which will guarantee permanent world peace—and that is a positive and permanent change in the heart and spirit of man, permitting of arbitration in all matters, regardless of the outcome."

Rail Carriers Ask Lower Freight Rate On Cotton Hauling

Only Points West of the Mississippi River Are Affected

RELIEF IS NECESSARY

Truck and Barge Competition
Cause of Demand for Cheaper Rates

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Southwestern railroads acting in unison Tuesday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to reduce their rates on cotton from points west of the Mississippi river to New Orleans without reducing the rates to Mobile.

In a decision several months ago the commission required the railroads to preserve a direct relationship between the rates to New Orleans and Mobile.

If the rates are reduced under this opinion they would also have to be reduced to Mobile.

A petition of the carriers said that the truck and barge competition to New Orleans threatened the business of hauling cotton and that immediate relief was necessary.

The petition affects all southwestern territory and the state of Louisiana west of the Mississippi river.

Sewing to Play Big Part in Fair

Textile Department One of Leading Exhibits to Be Displayed

Despite the many wonderful exhibits of canning content to be there, visitors to the annual Southwest Arkansas Fair will find that sewing still remains the highest of women's art, according to Mrs. W. P. Agee, superintendent of the Textile Department.

Fancy work, because of its decorative value will be given the most prominent display. Styles change with the years and women will find much that is new in the splendid display of fancy work to be seen in the textile department. Embroidery, tatting, crocheting, knitting, etc., will be presented from many new angles and much will be learned by any visitor who studies them.

The more practical and common types sewing will probably be exhibited in the greatest number and these will include such articles as handkerchiefs, towels, bedroom linen, aprons and women's and children's garments of various kinds. The exhibit will also include various kinds of rugs, bed spreads and quilts. Many articles valued as antiques will also be seen in this department.

For the winning entries and Mrs. Agee is making every effort possible to make the textile department the most attractive department at the fair this year. She is anxious that the women and girls of Hope and Southwest Arkansas enter their textiles in this department and show fair visitors some of the most attractive exhibits ever seen at a fair in this section of the state.

Everyone making an entry in the textile department is urged to bring it to the exhibit hall as early as possible September 21st.

The car struck the loading platform and was wedged under it by the force of the impact. The platform had to be removed before Fulk could be taken from the car.

Fulk was taken to the Baptist State Hospital, where it was reported he was suffering from a crushed left leg, a dislocated right hip and severe cuts and bruises on the body. The extent of his injuries had not been determined.

Five States Wait On Vote of Texas

Long Says He Is Sure of Quintet Following
Abolition Move

NEW ORLEANS.—(AP)—Gov. Huey P. Long said late Monday he had assurances from at least five other Southern states that cotton prohibition legislation would be enacted by their legislatures in the event that Texas votes total abolition of the 1932 crop.

He named Mississippi, Alabama, South Carolina, North Carolina and Arkansas as the states that would fall in line with the "no cotton in 1932" order recently by the Louisiana assembly.

"It seems that the situation is almost unanimous in the South if only the people of Texas will realize that no law is any good unless the cotton planting is entirely prohibited for 1932," Governor Long said in a formal statement.

The state of Texas will get $125,000,000 for the cotton raised in that state this year, but if a law can be passed entirely prohibiting the planting of cotton altogether for 1932, Texas will probably get $500,000,000 for this year's cotton crop. In other words, Texas can get as much for four years' crops if it will lay off planting cotton altogether next year.

Meanwhile, political Louisiana is in a stir Monday night over whether Governor Long will leave the state to address a cotton mass meeting at Austin, Texas, Wednesday night.

Some of his advisers have warned him not to go in the face of the threat of Lieutenant Governor Paul N. Cry, his intense personal and political foe, to take over the governor's chair if Long left the state.

The governor himself refused to discuss it. He also has accepted an invitation to speak in advocacy of his no-1932-cotton plan over a broadcast chain from station WDSU in New Orleans Wednesday night and Monday afternoon he had not cancelled it.

Reports were current in New Orleans Monday the governor planned to hop to Austin in an airplane, make his speech and fly back over the Louisiana border before the lieutenant governor could get in action. Previously the governor had said he could leave the state without the lieutenant governor taking over the governorship under an almost forgotten law that held the lieutenant governor could not act in the "temporary" absence of the governor.

Theater Held Up By Unmasked Pair

Outlaws Fail in Attempt to Obtain Receipts at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF.—(AP)—Two unmasked men, one of them armed, Monday night escaped after failing in their attempt to obtain week-end receipts at the Saenger theater here.

Reggie St. Clair, assistant manager, had placed the money totaling over $800, in the safe a few minutes before the robbers entered the theater office. He convinced them he did not know the combination.

After robbing St. Clair and his companion, Z. Findley, of a watch and a small amount of money, the robbers bound them and thrust them in a closet. They gained their freedom 15 minutes later.

Decline of Only 35 Cents a Bale At New Orleans

Increase of 100,000 Bales
Since August Sale to Stampede Market

GINNING, ONE-THIRD Crop Not Moving to Mar- ket—Arkansas Million and a Half

AUSTIN, Tex.—(AP)—Governor Ross Sterling told the Texas legislature last session that the cotton crop would be 15,000,000 bales. Tuesday noon, as the cotton was joined in special session, the governor and members of the legislature joined in a prayer for the cotton crop. The reaction of the New Orleans market to the report was a decline of only 35 cents a bale.

Private estimates on the average were almost a million bales lower than the August forecast.

The condition of the crop was given at 68 per cent, compared to 52.2 last year at the same time.

Ginnings up to September 1 were but 565,160 bales, compared with 1,879,919 bales last year. Lateness of the crop was given as a factor in the slow movement to market.

The Arkansas production estimate as of September 1 is 1,510,000 bales. W. L. Clayton, head of the Anderson-Clayton Cotton company, conferred with President Hoover Tuesday morning, but the nature of his visit was not revealed.

Down 80 Cents in N. Y.
NEW YORK.—(AP)—Cotton closed 15 to 16 points down, 70 to 80 cents a bale, Tuesday.

Lower Production Cost Aids Miners

Miners Flock to South to Resume Operations in Appalachians

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—(AP)—Interrupted by the rush to richer fields in California in '48 and again by the Civil war, gold mining is being resumed in the Appalachians.

Lower production costs as a result of deflated prices of materials and machinery promise to make abandoned mines more profitable.

In Mecklenburg county, North Carolina, shafts dug by slaves are being cleared on the Frank King farm.

Less than a mile away is the Camp's Hill mine which yielded more than $2,500,000 of gold in its day, more than 25 years ago. Near by is the old Hovey mine.

Near Rockwood, Tenn., A. K. Johnson, a doctor, is digging a tunnel into an old cave. He claims to have come into possession by an old bearskin may of Chief Owl, an old Indian whom he befriended.

Digging has been resumed in the Coker creek district in Monroe county, Tennessee.

In the Dahlonga field, Georgia, an operation alone has resulted in sale of more than $40,000 of gold to jewelers in the past five years.

Dr. Henry Macos Fayne, consulting engineer to the American Mining congress, figures figures showing that from the earliest period up to 1930 gold valued at $51,000,000 was mined in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee.

Interest in Appalachian gold is first recorded by Spanish explorers of the early sixteenth century.

The first gold nugget found in North Carolina was found in 1799 near Concord and weighed 20 pounds. Since then gold has been mined in approximately 400 localities in the state.

For many years before the Civil war "Bechter dollars" were common currency in North Carolina. The Bechter brothers operated their private mine and coined their dollars in competition with the government.

A Thought

The cost of living has gone down, if you can call it living. —Boston Shoe & Leather Reporter.

Influence of Gandhi

THOMAS CARLYLE would have been interested in Gandhi's recent denial that he has any intention of setting himself up as the unofficial ruler of India.

Carlyle, following his famous formula, would have remarked, "Gandhi is the unofficial ruler of India whether he wants to be or not. He is by all odds the greatest man in the nation; and according to Carlyle, the greatest man in the nation always runs things, no matter who has the outward trappings of authority."

All of which serves once more to call attention to the strange position that Gandhi occupies in the modern world.

It isn't merely that this wizened, poverty-stricken little man can defy the majesty of the great British Empire. In itself that would be remarkable enough, but it would not necessarily make the man a sign and a portent to make a fateful generation stop and take thought.

Beyond that lies the fact that Gandhi is a living denial of nearly all of the things that this generation—in America as well as in England—prizes most highly.

In a world that worships wealth he clings to poverty. In a world that bows to brute force he personifies the tremendous, terrifying power of the helpless. In a world that lives by machinery he sticks to the simplicities of a handicraft era. In a world grown cautious and skeptical he exults in a deep mysticism.

And as a result—not in spite of these differences—he is, in truth, the unofficial ruler of India today, and the British empire parleys with him to learn whether it can keep India within the fold.

There is something exceedingly significant in this man's career. He puts our ideals in reverse—and proves stronger than we are. Will he, before he gets through, make some of us suspect uneasily that our ideals are somewhat in need of revision?

No More Crop Mortgages

AN EL Dorado business man suggests that a law be passed which would make it illegal for farmers to give mortgages on a crop. A crop that has been raised is non-existent and it inate the opportunity for the farmer to go to his banker or some other individual to obtain money to finance his cotton crop. A crop that has been raised is non-existent and it would not be out of line to take away the loan value from something which is not a reality.

The proposal need not require passage of a law. Southern banking commissioners could get together and make the rule effective throughout the cotton growing states.

There is much room for argument in favor of the suggestion. The plan would do what all of us want to see done. It would automatically result in a big reduction in the amount of acreage placed in cotton. On the other hand, it would result in an increase in diversification among Southern farmers.

The proposal practically would place the Southern farmer on his own. He would have to shift for himself and in that event would be forced to get away from the one-crop idea. He would have to give more thought to raising food for home consumption and for market as well as the raising of feed for his stock.

Taking away of this chance to mortgage his crop would not, in most instances, be placing a hardship upon the farmers. Nine out of ten, we believe, are in a better position to take care of themselves now than ever before.

Farmers need to become more independent. We think the present would be the opportune time to make a step in that direction. —El Dorado News.

"Marse" Watterson

AND this reminds us of a story told recently by Harrison Robertson, for so many years secretary to Henry Watterson, brilliant editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mr. Robertson was dragged out to some meeting in Louisville recently and spoke of the erratic temperament of Mr. Watterson, telling how for weeks and months he would not write anything at all for the Courier-Journal, and then again would write so much every day that the editorial page was not large enough to contain all of his articles. Therefore, some of them had to be held over. It so happened that one of them was laid aside on a galley and stayed there for at least a year, and when discovered, Mr. Robertson laid a proof of it on Mr. Watterson's desk. On reading it, Mr. Watterson turned to Robertson and said:

"What damn fool wrote this thing?"

Robertson replied: "Wou did."

Watterson said: "Well, he ought to be fired!" —Edgar Harris in West Point (Miss.) Times-Leader.

Giving Him a Tunbule!

Washington Letter

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—Lately the air has been full of vague, wispy rumors that President Hoover was about to say something or do something calculated to set the country on its feet, completely re-establish the Hoover popularity and insure Republican success in next year's campaign.

Just who starts these various tales and how they come to receive so much apparently serious attention, especially, but by no means entirely, outside of Washington, is more than your correspondent has been able to learn. They can't be traced to the source and one is left wondering.

The present rumor period has followed an interval in which there were recurrent, untraceable reports here and there that some very prominent person had died or been murdered. The "victim" was usually the president, the world's heavyweight champion, the most famous of our trans-Atlantic flyers or the last Democratic presidential candidate. A week or two never passed without newspapers being called up for verification of such a report. The inquirer usually said he "heard it over the radio." Some celebrities were so often called upon to deny such rumors that they became pretty mad about it. How much responsibility may be attributed to inebriates who imagined they heard something, who spread false gossip just to start something or who spoke surreptitiously into convenient microphones at odd moments is a matter for idle speculation.

The oldest and most flourishing among the current rumor crop is the one about light wines and beer, or just about beer. A year ago or so this began with wide circulation of a mysterious yarn that the beer business was about to be restored, all at once, to its former status. Apparently the thing was just supposed suddenly to happen, without act of Congress. Then it was persistently reported for months and often written by correspondents here—that the Wickersham commission would recommend light wines and beer.

During 1931 the rumor, somewhat revised, has been that Mr. Hoover planned to recommend re-establishment of beer as a legal drink as a step toward reviving prosperity. Such stories are often credited to, or believed in the "highest quarters." They are said to have appeared in Wall Street ticker services. Even money has been bet on their alleged accuracy. At one time they were coming so thick that they irritated the White House and investigation as to the source was reported under way. The best informed persons, one might as well make clear, place no credence in them whatever.

NOW one begins to hear that the president has a "surprise" of another nature in store for us—some radically drastic stroke which will be good for what ails us and good for what ails the administration. For instance, that Mr. Hoover plans to urge upon American industry the five-day week system with non reduction in weekly wages. And, perhaps, a shorter workday. Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ernest L. Jahncke, close friend of Hoover's, recently proposed those things in a speech which stimulated the rumor. Also, you hear whispers of a Hoover proposal of a gigantic building program. And others concerning some likely world-shaking proposal which the president may make in regard to war debts and disarmament.

The one about Calvin Coolidge expecting to take the Republican nomination from Hoover and about an alleged politicians' plot to aid him persists. That seems to be the bunk, too. Some of the drays and some Republicans also have a theory that most of the practical Democratic politicians who lately have been declaring for Governor Roosevelt have in reality a plan up their sleeves to join through the nomination of Al Smith when the party's national convention opens. The one thing these more or less wild thoughts have in common is that there are large numbers of people who don't mind fathering them with wishes.

HOW TO GET

THE MANY ADVANTAGES OF ICE REFRIGERATION

The less ice there is in your refrigerator, the higher the temperature there. Don't let an insufficient supply of ice interfere with the safe-keeping of your foods. Always keep your ice compartment more than half full! That's the one way to get all the advantages which ICE refrigeration offers. This is important in winter as well as summer, for proper refrigeration requires the same, even temperature the whole year 'round. The difference between perfect and imperfect refrigeration is but a few cents! Why take the risk?

True Story

PROSPERITY AND THE RAILROADS

AMERICAN railroads are NOT dying institutions. On the contrary, they are now, as they have been for three-quarters of a century, the backbone of business and industry. When the railroads prosper, all business and industry prosper and when they are not prosperous the entire economic structure of the nation suffers.

It should be remembered that the railroads are called upon to handle about 75 per cent of the total transportation requirements of the nation. In this connection it is interesting to note that of the remainder, two-thirds, or 15 per cent of the total, is handled in deep-bottom boats on the Great Lakes.

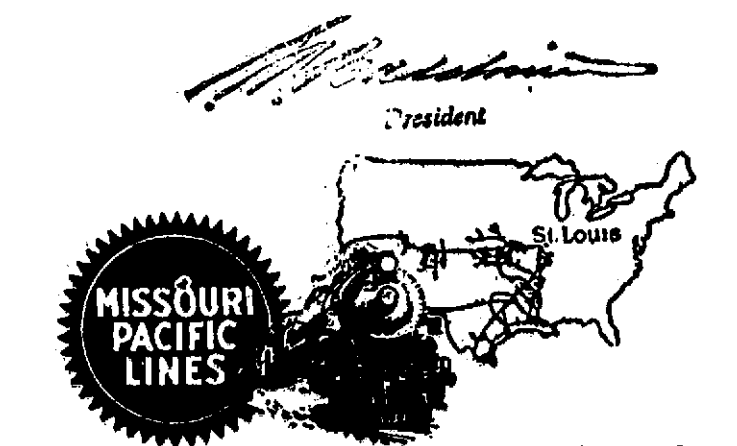

It also should be remembered that railroads provide employment for more than one and one-half million well-paid wage earners and allied industry, dependent on railroad purchases, provides gainful employment for another million ultimate consumers of the products of other business and industry.

It follows, therefore, that one of the most important factors in bringing about a return of normal, prosperous conditions in this country, is to restore the railroads to their former position of leadership and financial security.

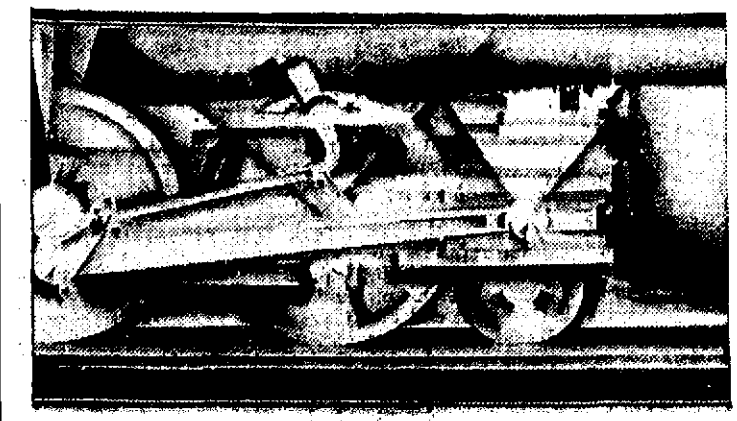

Railroads must have a living wage if they are to continue to serve America adequately and satisfactorily and they must be placed on a parity with their competition with regard to regulation and taxation in order that they may continue to lead the way in the advancement and development of the entire country.

For more than half a century the railroads have been the economic shock absorber for the nation. They need the sympathetic help now, as never before, of every intelligent, well-informed person in the country.

I solicit your co-operation and support.

Live for the minute, live for the hour, live for the bud and live for the flower. What if this minute you're troubled and glum, something worth waiting for surely shall come. Live out the burdens and live out the cares, live for the harvest which summer prepares, live for the task and its prize to be won, the joy of achievement when toiling is done, live and rejoice that God made you a man. And give you a share in His Infinite plan.—E. A. G.

Mrs. B. E. Newton and little daughters, Analee and Alice, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Duckett for the past ten days, left Monday for their home in Little Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sullivan entertained most delightfully on Saturday evening at their home on North Main street, honoring Mrs. Lawson Smith of Little Rock. A quantity of lovely summer flowers added beauty to the rooms, which were arranged for three tables of bridge. The high score favors went to Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bush, and the honoree received a dainty gift of remembrance. An ice course was served at the close of the game.

Mrs. Florence Turner, who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. C. H. Brooks and Mr. Brooks in Clarkdale, Miss., for the past six weeks, returned home on Monday evening.

Mrs. John P. Vesey, who has been the guest of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Davidson in Paragould for the past two weeks, is expected home on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Helen Creezy and little daughter, Mollie, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Wray for the past few days left Tuesday for their home in Fort Worth.

Circle No. 1 of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Methodist church held their regular monthly meeting at the attractive new Methodist parsonage with Mrs. J. L. Cannon, and Misses Ida and Mollie Hatch and Dell McClanahan as associate hostesses. A most inspiring devotion-al from the 12th Chapter of Luke was given by Dr. J. L. Cannon, who spoke most interestingly on "The Courage of Jesus." Splendid papers were read by Mrs. C. B. Presley, Mrs. G. M. M. McClaughan and Mrs. W. G. Allison. Mrs. Lawson Harris of Little Rock, house guest of Mrs. C. B. Presley, favored the meeting with a beautiful vocal number. Delightful refreshments well served to 25 members and one visitor.

Mrs. J. W. Lee of Malvern is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Roy Stephenson and Mr. Stephenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hetzler have as house guest, Miss Johnne Freeman of Monroe, La.

Miss Paula Benjamin of DeQueen was the Monday guest of Miss Frances Patterson, en route to Arkadelphia, where she will enter Henderson State Teachers college.

Last week the Cemetery association through this column, asked for past dues and donations, the response has been most gratifying, but still not enough to meet its obligations, and again it is urged that all members, who are in arrears, to please mail your check to Mrs. Fannie Garrett, treasurer. As stated before, donations from any who are not members will be highly appreciated.

The Althean Class will hold their regular monthly business and social meeting on Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Irving Urey on North Elm street. It is urged that all members be present, as business of importance will come before this meeting.

Misses Frances Patterson, Bernice Robbin and Joy O'Neill left Tuesday for Arkadelphia, where they will enter Henderson State Teachers College.

Mrs. Helen Creezy and little daughter, Mollie, of Fort Worth, Texas, were honorees on Monday at a most attractive luncheon, given by Mrs. Max Cox at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Allison on West Avenue B. A chival bowl filled to overflowing with lovely sweet peas centered the luncheon table, and dainty place cards

Young, with Mrs. Hugh McLaughlin as joint hostess. The meeting opened with the hymn, "Blessed Assurance," followed by a very inspiring devotion-al from "Stewardship of Service" by Mrs. R. L. Broach. A very interesting program on our Congo Missions, was given by Mrs. S. H. Womack, assisted by Mrs. Broach, Mrs. R. L. Gosnell, Mrs. H. W. Olmstead and Mrs. L. J. Gillespie. A piano solo by Miss Harriette Grace Story and a reading by Miss Katherine Franks were delightful additions to the program after a short business period, punch and sandwiches were served to 11 members and two visitors.

Mrs. Max Cox, Mrs. Evan Wray and her guest, Mrs. Helen Creezy of Fort Worth, Tex., were Monday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Daniels in Texarkana.

Louisiana's Vegetable Shipments Sets Record

NEW ORLEANS.—(AP)—Louisiana shipped more carloads of fruits and vegetables this year than ever before. Figures compiled by B. E. Jones of the association of commerce show that 13,425 carloads were shipped during the first six months of 1931, or nearly 5,000 cars more than in 1930.

Strawberry shipments increased from 2,336 in 1930 to 4,716 this year; while potatoes from 2,326 to 4,329; mixed vegetables from 956 to 1,375.

THE FASHION of the light bodice with the dark skirt has invaded the realm of evening clothes. A charming example of this type is illustrated in this black and white satin evening gown. DON'T be FOOLED by Tricky SALES TALK

DON'T be misled by challenges—guarantees—laboratory analyses—price comparisons—claims of 25% savings—made by distributors of special-brand tires.

A recent example of a grossly misleading and extravagant statement by a distributor of special-brand tires is—"Mount one of our tires on one wheel of your car and a tire of any other make on the opposite wheel. If our tire does not give you equal service at a saving up to 25% in price, we will give you a new tire free."

This statement can be made for only one purpose—a desperate effort to gain your confidence and sell you a tire before you have had time to think about the ridiculousness of their challenge, which asks you to buy one of their tires and go to another store and buy a tire—have it mounted on the opposite wheel—then turn yourself into a tire tester!

Firestone don't ask you to run test cars for them—they have twenty-nine test cars of their own, running day and night, on which they test Firestone Tires and other makes, including special-brand tires, and we have the proof of the safety, quality and extra values of Firestone Tires before you buy.

Drive in today—examine sections cut from Firestone Tires and special-brand mail-order tires—see for yourself the two extra plies under the tread which give you extra protection against punctures and blowouts—compare the construction and quality—don't be fooled by misleading advertisements. We will give you safer, more dependable tires at no greater cost.

Remember The Day Thursday September 10th

Let's Swap!

Thursday, September 10th is to be a big day for bargain hunters in Southwest Arkansas. Thirty Hope firms offer on this page, some of the greatest values ever offered to the buying public in fifteen years! Each of the special prices listed on this page represent not every day values, but special price reductions for this one day only, Thursday. Look over the items advertised by these Hope firms. Then you'll want to hurry to Hope on Hoopee Day, to reap the harvest of savings.

This event will be repeated once each month for the remainder of this year. On the second Thursday of each month Hope merchants will offer specials which will make it worth your while to come to Hope to trade. Larger and more complete stocks, greater variety, better styles for the money, and the lowest prices to be found in Southwest Arkansas, every day in the year. You'll want to hurry to Hope Thursday, and on the second Thursday in each month, for the extra special values.

Congressman Tilman B. Parks will be the feature of the first Hoopee Day. He will speak at the vacant lot where Third Street crosses the L. & A. Railway. There will be music by the Hope Boys' Band, and many other features for your entertainment and comfort.

LET'S SWAP!

Farmers are encouraged to use the vacant lot mentioned above as a "swapping ground" on this date. They are respectfully asked to bring the things they don't need to this lot, to trade them for things which they do need. Someone else may need the very things which are only in your way; horse collars, mules, baby buggies, and countless other things could easily be traded to some one else who needs them, giving you something you need in return.

The Retail Merchants Association have made arrangements for you to use this lot every second Thursday for the remainder of this year, to trade off the things you don't need; for the things you do need. Make use of it.

Hope Retail Merchants Association.

Pay Your Bills PROMPTLY

The heavy retail buying season of all the year will soon be here. The Retail Credit Bureau, which is owned and operated by Hope merchants, through the Hope Retail Merchants Association, respectfully asks that you guard your credit rating, as though it were one of your most precious possessions. Because that is just exactly what it is.

The Bureau keeps an up-to-date record of the manner in which you pay your bills, if you buy on credit always paid your bills between the first and the tenth of the month following your purchases, if you have always paid when you promised you would, you can get the credit to tide you over an unforeseen drain upon your cash, your income, or your credit. If you have not been in the habit of paying your bills promptly, you could not very well secure special accommodation in times like these.

In these times a good credit may be of untold immediate value to you and to your family. If you have always paid your bills between the first and the tenth of the month following your purchases, if you have always paid when you promised you would, you can get the credit to tide you over an unforeseen drain upon your cash, your income, or your credit. If you have not been in the habit of paying your bills promptly, you could not very well secure special accommodation in times like these.

When you say "charge it" you imply that you will pay on the first of the month following your purchase. Or not later than the tenth of that month. If you do not pay then you are working a distinct hardship upon the merchant, which he is not able to bear. He must pay his bills promptly, if he is to stay in business. The only way he can pay promptly is to collect promptly.

If your credit rating is not of the best, see your creditors and make some arrangements for immediate payment. Then, if you live up to your promises, they will advise the Credit Rating Bureau accordingly, and you will have greatly improved your credit standing. Remember, your standing follows you, wherever you go, as long as you live.
